Wyndham Grand Orlando Resort Bonnet Creek Names John Sadio Chef de Cuisine

ORLANDO, Fla. (June 2, 2015) – Wyndham Grand Orlando Resort Bonnet Creek, part of the upper-upscale Wyndham Hotels and Resorts® brand, today named John Sadio chef de cuisine for the resort’s award winning deep blu seafood grille.

With more than 15 years of culinary experience and an eye for detail, Sadio has been a key figure in all culinary operations at the Wyndham Grand Orlando Resort Bonnet Creek since 2011. He most recently served as banquet chef, where he was responsible for all meeting and event cuisine.

As chef de cuisine of deep blu seafood grille, Sadio will be responsible for the dining concept’s food direction and menu creation, with more opportunity for personal interaction with the guests thanks to the restaurant’s open kitchen concept.

“Chef John was an essential part of the original opening of deep blu seafood grille,” said Executive Chef Andrew Edwards. “He helped us set the standard for the restaurant, and we’re thrilled to have him in this capacity where he can showcase his talent and creativity.”

In addition to his history with Wyndham, Sadio’s background encompasses a range of experience including the Stirling Club in Las Vegas, Nevada; Loews Hotels in Orlando, Florida; and the largest convention hotel on the east coast – The Gaylord National Resort Convention Center in Washington D.C. Sadio was also an apprentice for several top chefs including Master Sushi Chef Osamu Fujita, Chef Art Smith and Chef Charlie Palmer.

Sadio discovered his passion for cooking at a very young age as he helped by working at his parent’s Asian produce and specialty market. He earned his degree from The Art Institute of California in Los Angeles before moving to Las Vegas to start his career. In 2015, he was showcased in Hotel F&B Magazine for most innovative action stations.
